

PURIFY THE LIFE CURRENT.
SCOVILL'S
Blood and Liver Syrup

A Fearless Remedy for
Scrofula, White Swellings, Cancer, Erysipelas, Chronic Sores, Gout, Syphilis, Tumors, Carbuncles, Salt Rheum, Jaundice, and all diseases indicating an
IMPURE CONDITION OF THE BLOOD!
Cutaneous Eruptions upon the face or body
do not necessarily indicate the taint of Scrofula; but whether the insidious poison of that dire malady is present in the system or not, certain it is that

SCOVILL'S BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP
completely cures such disorders. If the virus of Scrofula does exist in the veins, this matchless purifier will not only destroy it, but it will resist the purifying action of this safe and potent remedy, which renders the skin
CLEAN, SOFT AND BEAUTIFUL.

When ordinary remedies utterly fail to arrest
the progress of scrofulous and other eruptive disorders, the persistent use of this incomparable depurative secures the desired result.

THIS GRAND REMEDY
is a compound of vegetable extracts, the chief of which are

Sarsaparilla and Stillingia.

The cures effected by
are absolute, and their record is undisputed by failure. For sale by all Druggists.

On Friday of last week, Langsdale, postmaster of Greencastle, again appeared before the Exodus Investigating Committee in Washington, and the special correspondent of the Indianapolis Journal
reports the testimony as follows:

G. J. Langsdale, of Greencastle, Ind., concluded his testimony before the exodus committee yesterday. He placed in evidence the pamphlet issued under the authority of the Indiana State Agriculture, in 1876, for the benefit of emigrants of the State. It was compiled by the Secretary of the board, a Democrat, and paid for by the State, the State Government then being Democratic. Fifteen thousand copies were issued. It contained all the arguments that the witness had afterward used to induce immigration. He next called attention to the letter of Governor Williams, written during the past winter in answer to a letter of inquiry received from a colored man residing in North Carolina, who wished to know what inducements Indiana offered to colored immigrants. The Governor answered that farm wages were from $13
to $15 a month, but that not much work was done during the winter. Witness supposed that the Governor meant by this that such emigrants had better come only during the spring, and summer, and autumn. This had been his own notion and he had so advised the negroes. Recently a white man had come to his county from Kentucky, who stated that he had come over with a party, whose railroad fare, amounting to $12 each, had been paid; that they would remain long enough to vote the Democratic ticket and then go back, it being understood that they were to have free passes to return on. He said, further, that white men had been passing through his State saying that labor was in great demand in Indiana at from $15 to $20 a month. It was his impression that these white immigrants were discharged convicts from the Kentucky penitentiary, although there is no positive proof to that effect. The witness had charged in his paper that such was the case, and gave the young man's name who made the above statements, on which the charge was based;
but that individual never appeared to enter a denial, which was another indication of the truth.

The witness said that his connection with the exodus might be considered a thing of natural growth.
Twenty years ago he had an opportunity to study the system of peonage in New Mexico, and since the defeat of what is known as the force bill he had been of the opinion that the design in the South was to reduce negroes to a similar condition. For years he had been attempting to obtain active interference in their behalf on the part of the Republican party, and from this had grown his idea of the exodus. In 1878
in his paper, the Greencastle Banner, advocated the exodus, by appealing to the selfishness of Republicans, in showing that their coming would add strength to the party, he hoped to insure them a warm welcome; and, since the Democrats had made a solid South by driving them from the polls with the shotgun, he thought it a legitimate self-defense for them to come the North and make that section solid. In fact, he was in favor at that time of doing any proper thing to accomplish that result; but the necessity of such action had passed. We no longer need the negroes to make the North solid. It is solid without them.
We only need them now for farm laborers.
"Why?" asked Senator Voorhees.
"Because," said the witness, "we have had the extra session of Congress, the attempt to steal Maine, and now this exodus committee." The last the people of his State regarded as an invasion and it had done more to make Indiana solid for the Republican party than anything else that had occurred. "We will see about that next summer," said Senator
Voorhees, evidently considerably nettled.
The witness was free to admit that he expected that the exodus would benefit his party, but not by bringing voters to the State, for not enough had come to do that. "How then?" asked Senator Voorhees. "By causing the Democratic party to show its devilish spirit," was the quick reply. "It is not showing the same devilish spirit that you are," retorted Senator Voorhees in great wrath

"I have long since discovered," not noticing the interruption, that if you want the Democracy to act manly and do foolish things, you have only to stick a nigger at them. Enough have come to cause you to raise an issue that will beat your party at the next election." "We'll see you about that in Putnam county," said the Senator. The witness continued by saying that his "plan for making the Democracy show their weak points and raise an issue which they could not go to the country on, had succeeded beyond his sanguine expectations." Senator Voorhees then read a letter in his hand that Willis Burr, a colored man, who had left North Carolina and gone to Putnam county, Indiana, and whose statements the witness had quoted in his previous testimony, had left his wife and taken up with another woman, and for that reason had been compelled to leave his native State. The Senator then asked the witness if he knew anything about that. Mr. Langsdale said that he did not, except that he had been shown the letter. It occurred to him, however, that if it had been established as a rule in North Carolina that when a man leaves his wife and takes up with another woman he must leave the State, a good many white men like Burr, would have to exodus. He didn't know whether the charge against Burr was true or not, but if it was, he had no doubt but that he had learned it from his former white masters. "Do you know sir, that you are slandering the people of the South?"
broke in Senator Vance, in a loud and angry tone. "No, I am not," was the answer, it is a well-known fact that before the war, the negro females were the victims of their masters. "Don't you know sir, that the per cent of the divorces on the ground of infidelity is much greater in the Northern States than in the Southern?" asked Senator Vance; still in great anger. "I don't know anything about that," was the reply, "but if it is true it only shows that such things have got to be so common down South that no attention is paid to them, while up North there is such a high standard that when there is such an occurrence the parties go into court for redress." Senator Vance then attempted to lecture the witness on the opinion expressed that peonage was to be the condition of the Southern negro, and said that the laws in all the Southern States exempted $1500 worth of property from forced sales; that Mr.
Langsdale ought to know something about the laws of the South before he attempts to slander his people. The witness answered that his opinion of the condition of the colored people was based on the condition and statements of those who came to Indiana. Certainly, the men who left the South and came to the North in the hope of bettering their condition ought to know why they came,
and how they were treated in the South,
better than those who know nothing about it. The fact that the Southern whites were trying to prevent their removal to the North shows that they are industrious, useful citizens; but, notwithstanding this, all they have to show for their life's work when they reach Indiana are the rags on their backs. Their poverty when they came substantiated all they said.

The Election.

The result of the election in Indiana
on Monday, shows that the amendments to the constitution are adopted, and that the vote on township officers gives about the usual majorities to each party.

Below we give the result of the election in this county on Monday, by townships, and also the aggregate of the vote on the amendments. This vote is not given in full form in any other Putnam county paper of this week. THE STAR al-

For April 10th, the following weather: 10th to 13th, clouding, threatening weather, with severe local storms; 13th to 15th, fair; 15th to 18th, clouding, with rains; 18th to 19th, clear or fair; 20th to 24th, clouding, threatening weather, with heavy storms; 25th to 27th, clear or fair; 27th to 30th, clouding and threatening weather, with heavy storms in places. The comparatively warmer days are about 1st, 6th, 11th, 16th, 20th, 24th and 30th. The comparatively cooler days are about 3d, 8th, 18th and 25th.

Now comes a telegram from New Albany as follows: The Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Railroad Company have commenced the building of a new switch from the north-west part of the city, in order to run their trains direct to Vincennes street and make the Louisville connection. Heretofore the trains came into the depot here and then sent forward the Louisville passenger coach by a round about switch. When the new switch is completed the coaches for Louisville will switch off and the rest of the train come to this city. The Company has a large force putting down ties and repairing the tracks.

There was considerable chin music made in Greencastle a few months since, favoring gas works, and the subject was brought out in its strongest phases. At that time we opposed the movement, feeling convinced that ere long, the electric light could be had, thereby securing us better light for less money. Now comes the news that the city of Wabash, Indiana, is using the electric light for street illumination. The telegraphic report is as follows: As the clock struck 8 four Brush electric lamps, of 3,000 candle power, put forth a noontide light extending one mile in diameter. The lamps being suspended midway of the iron flagstaff on the Court House, which towers 200 feet above the business part of town, were furnished with electricity by a No. 5 generator driven by a seven horse power engine. According to contract, the light was to light up one mile in diameter from the Court House, and equal to a gas burner 2,640 feet from the light. Men were scattered at different parts of the city, and reported it satisfactory. At Urbana, 5 miles north, the light is reported as being beautiful. The test has given general satisfaction. As Wabash is the first city in America to adopt the electric light for general illumination, the announcement brought people from all sections, and at seven o'clock fully ten thousand were present. Among the number were nineteen councils of adjacent towns, and the Mayors of Marion and North Manchester, and now that the undertaking has proved successful, the representatives of the other towns will place the subject of electric light before their people for immediate use. Mr. F. C. Phillips, the electrician who superintended the construction of the apparatus, was entirely satisfied with the light. As this was the first test, and sale of the apparatus and other preliminaries are not all arranged, the city will not be permanently lit for three or four weeks, at the end of which time, however, gas will be unknown here for lighting purposes.

On Monday last William R. McKeen, president of the Vandalia road, sent out a circular notifying the employes on all divisions of the road of a 10 per cent. advance in their pay.

STATISTICS show that the wheat crop in this State promises to be a blessing to the farmers again this year. The acreage is twelve per cent. more than in 1879, and the average condition is far better than it was twelve months ago. Last year we were first in the yield to the acre, and this year we stand fifth in the prospect list of the national report upon the condition of crops.

The literary societies of the Indiana State University, at Bloomington, have invited Jeff. Davis to deliver the annual address at commencement, this year. In consequence thereof, the truly loyal of that town are holding indignation meetings, and one of the speakers denounced the members of the societies as traitors. At last accounts the societies maintain that Davis shall deliver the address, and the malcontents declare that he shall not.

We understand that there is considerable bad blood and ill-feeling between certain citizens of Floyd township, growing out of the exodus war of words, as printed in our columns some weeks ago. Some of the parties feel aggrieved, too, because we thought the discussion had already gone too far, and refused to give space to anything further on the subject. Now, the truth of the matter is, that the discussion began while the editor was in Washington—had he been at home the articles would not have appeared, for THE STAR had not made any misstatements regarding the affair; but, as it was, we could not help ourselves, and simply cut the discussion off as soon as all parties had a chance to be heard. We have no apologies to offer, save to our readers for occupying this space in noticing a matter that should have never found its way into public print.

There has been a great departure from the teachings of the Fathers. In the first years of the Republic the Chief Executive was not the expensive luxury he is now. The salary and household expenses of the President did not amount to about $120,000 a year, then as now. In 1879 the cost of the White House and its inmates amounted to $119,964, itemized as follows:

Compensation of President	$50,000
Compensation of private secretary	3,250
Compensation of assistant secretary	2,250
Compensation of two Executive clerks at $2,000	4,000
Compensation of stenographer	1,800
Compensation of steward	1,800
Compensation of messenger and usher	1,200
Compensation of furnace keeper	804
Compensation of one night watchman	900
Compensation of one night usher	1,200
Compensation of two day ushers at $1,400	2,800
Compensation of one usher at secretary's door	1,200
Compensation of two doorkeepers at $1,200	2,400
Compensation of one clerk	1,800
Compensation of one clerk	1,400
Compensation of one clerk	1,200
Compensation of one telegraph operator	1,100
Compensation of four messengers (to wait on the three clerks and telegraph operator nominally, but really servants) at $1,200	4,800
Two horses for messengers, to be furnished by Secretary of War, nominally for use of messengers, but really for secretary's carriage, cost not given.
New item
Contingent expenses	6,000
Grounds south of executive mansion	5,000
Refurnishing, repairs, and green-houses	25,000
Total	$119,964

THE Cincinnati Enquirer of Monday gave reports from a majority of the counties of Indiana, showing in a comprehensive manner, the prospects for the wheat and fruit crop this year. These reports come so near being uniformly favorable that the reader had no difficulty in making up the general result. There is an increased acreage of wheat, and the production per acre will probably average as well as the excellent crop of last year. As to fruit, the outlook is still more flattering. The present condition of the fruit trees is rich in promise, and we are far enough advanced in the season, sunshine to give reasonable assurance of escape from the blighting effects of the frosts. The only thing in the way of a bountiful fruit crop seems to be the possibility of late frosts, and weatherwise people prognosticate favorably on that point. There is scarcely a doubt of a fair crop, and a strong probability of a bounteous production. The report from Putnam County was printed as follows: The wheat looks splendid, and promises an abundant yield. The acreage is fully one-fourth greater than last year; some think it will go higher. Fruits generally in good condition.

THE heroines of humanity are many, but where is there chronicled a case of more creditable heroism than the following, reported by the Cincinnati Enquirer: Mamie Fahey, a child of seven years, was burned to death early yesterday morning at the home of her mother, No. 308 East Pearl street, under very romantic and peculiar circumstances. At half past six o'clock her mother locked the door of her room and started for a store to procure her daily supply of marketing. She left Mamie and her infant sister in bed asleep, thinking she would return before they woke. In this she was mistaken. Mamie awoke and getting up tried to light a fire in the stove with some matches that were within her reach. By accident she set her night dress on fire, and before it was consumed her flesh was burned almost to a crisp. The poor little sufferer with a fortitude that seems superhuman, if not unnatural, refrained from making any outcry that would attract the neighbors, and when her mother returned she found her on the floor in indescribable agony. When questioned as to why she had not screamed and called for help, she replied: "Please, ma, I was afraid I'd wake the baby." Though all was done for the little heroine that human skill could devise, she sank quickly, until death released her from suffering. Greater love than this no man hath.

THERE is evidence of another boom, as claimed by the Indianapolis Journal of last Tuesday, and here is the way that paper states the matter:

A rumor was current yesterday in select political circles that Hon. William H. English has at last determined to enter seriously into the struggle for a place upon the Democratic National ticket. He has decided upon the issuance of a very large edition of a biographical sketch of his political career, which has been prepared with great care under his own personal supervision, and is now in the hands of the printers. The understanding is that there will be no direct announcement of his candidature, any more than there has been of that of General Hancock or Justice Field; but the circulation of copies of his life will be so extensive as to introduce his name in a semi-official way in quarters where attention is being given to the business of president-making. The movement in Mr. English's behalf is being worked with considerable ingenuity; and is of course under the control mainly of the adherents of Mr. Tilden, the first object being to make the national ticket Tilden and English. To this the latter gentleman has, it is understood, given his assent; and that the movement is endorsed by the Tildenites is patent from the fact that Mr. Henri Watterson, who was in the city Saturday night, spent several hours in close and friendly consultation with Mr. English at his residence. It is well known that Mr. Watterson is as bitter in his antagonism to Mr. Hendricks as he is valiant in his championship of the sage of Gramercy Park; and the knowing ones say that the principal object in giving prominence to the name of Mr. English is to weaken Mr. Hendricks in other States whose delegations have been expected to be instructed in his favor. The policy will be to make it appear that the Indiana Democracy have practically lost hope of the nomination of Mr. Hendricks, and that, therefore, any support given to this gentleman by other States would be so much influence wasted. The English movement is really antagonistic to Hendricks, and intended to effectually kill him off as a presidential aspirant; while at the same time, it will, if successful, place English in a position to claim the support of Tilden's friends as a candidate for the presidency, in the event of the Kelly opposition making Tilden's nomination an impossibility.

Unsuccessful.

"Nothing succeeds like success" and "success manages itself" are the words of the successful, and they can be uttered with a certain loftiness by the man who is in the tide of success, but after all, there are failures which are greater than many successes. The splendid failures of the world are received with mocking coldness by the world. There is a brief pity for them, and then eternal forgetfulness. The historian Hillard left these words for the unsuccessful: "I confess that increasing years bring with them an increasing respect for those who do not succeed in life, as those words are commonly used. Heaven is said to be a place for those who have not succeeded upon earth; and it is surely true that celestial graces do not best thrive and bloom in the hot blaze of worldly prosperity. Ill success sometimes arises from superabundance of qualities in themselves good, from a conscience too sensitive, a taste too fastidious, a self-forgetfulness too romantic, a modesty too retiring. I will not go so far as to say, with a living poet, that the world knows nothing of its greatest men; but there are forms of greatness, or at least, excellence, that die and make no sign; there are martyrs that miss the palm, but not the stake; there are heroes without the laurel, and conquerors without the triumph."

Two Pictures.

Miss Blanche Murray is a very proper young lady. Last week she caught her little brother smoking.

"You terrible thing," she hissed, "I am going to tell father on you!"

"This is only corn-silk," murmured the boy penitently.

"I don't care what it is. I am going to tell on you, and see that you don't get into that beastly, horrid, degrading habit. I wouldn't have anything to do with smokers."

It is evening. Miss Murray is sitting on the front stoop with Algernon. It is moonlight, and the redolent spirits of the honeysuckle and syringa are wafting bliss to their already intoxicated souls.

"Would little bird object to me smoking a cigarette?"

"Not at all," replied Miss Murray, "I like cigarettes, they are so fragrant and romantic. I think they are just too delicious for anything."

"Then I'll light one."

"Do, and blow some of the smoke in my face, it is so soothing and dreamily paradisiac."

Then he lights a cigarette, and they talk about the weather for two hours and a half.

Leprosy in London.

A fearful disease which has not been heard of in great Britain for over seventy years, has reappeared in London, but only a single case has become known. A poor woman who had been for nine months an in-patient of St. John's Hospital, for disease of the skin, suffering from leprosy in its most horrible form, died there on Saturday. The disease is undoubtedly contagious, and I have heard no particulars as to the isolation of the unfortunate victim, although I suppose that would have been provided for. In Cyprus, which I suppose we must regard as being in Asia, there is a village which is entirely inhabited by lepers. On the first symptom of the disease, the sufferer is driven from his native town, and gradually a colony of pariahs has been formed. A cordon is drawn around the place for miles, and it is to be hoped that none of the British troops will wander into its precincts for curiosity.

Cure For Sleeplessness.

Wet a towel, apply it to the back of the neck, pressing it upward toward the base of the brain, and fasten the dry half of the towel over so as to prevent the too rapid exhalation. The effect is prompt and charming, cooling the brain and inducing calm, sweeter sleep than any narcotic. Warm water may be used, though most persons will prefer it cold. To those suffering from over-excitement of the brain, whether the result of brain-work or pressing anxiety, this simple remedy is an especial boon.

Taming Horses by Electricity.

The general omnibus company of Paris for some time past made use of electricity for subduing vicious horses. By the process adopted, intractable animals given to biting, rearing, and kicking are rendered inoffensive, and submit peacefully to be groomed and harnessed. To obtain this result a weak current of electricity is passed into the mouth of the horse each time it becomes restive. The will of the animal seems almost annihilated. The current is produced by a small induction machine of the Clarke system, the wires of which communicate with the bit of the bridle. The employment of electricity is said to produce a sort of uneasiness or torpor rather than pain, and is much less barbarous than many taming methods hitherto adopted.

THE STAR. CITY AND COUNTY

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Carver, who have been visiting here, have returned to their home at Hastings, Nebraska.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Ezra H. Bemis and Sarah A. Goddard, David O'Mullane and Mary E. Macy.

Dr. Fisk and wife were called to Pennsylvania, a few days ago, by a despatch announcing the serious illness of Mrs. Fisk's brother.

The boys are taking base ball in full doses, already—if they were required to make garden it would be a blessing to the family but hard on the boys.

We hear rumors of a wedding, to take place in a few days, wherein one of the belles of Monroe township and a gentleman of Hendricks are the high contracting parties.

This pleasant weather should be taken advantage of by the different road supervisors throughout the county, and mud holes and bad places should be filled up and the roads worked.

An exchange very wisely says, girls must expect to be old maids so long as they persist in gadding the streets and giggling at every male specimen of humanity in a stylish suit of store clothes.

The Indianapolis Sentinel of Tuesday, says: Jas. T. Darnall, of Greencastle, is at the Bates House. Mr. Darnall as a prominent candidate for the position of grand vice dictator Knights of Honor of Indiana, which convenes at Castle Hall, to day.

CORRESPONDENCE.

South Greencastle.

We are sorry to say that some of our blue ribbon "boys" have yielded to the tempting bowl—"away, away the bowl." Callender & Sons have been working on the new dwelling of W. A. Workman, south of the city, for the past two weeks. Wm. Jackson, of Centerville, Ills., has been visiting friends here for the past week. Charles Leutke has purchased the meat market of John Craig. The election passed off quietly here, but the result was a little astonishing. The third ward, which was considered reliably Republican, polled a majority for the Democratic ticket. The Democrats feel good, as this result shows that the white laboring men are beginning to open their eyes to the fact that the only way to rebuke the "negro exodus conspiracy" is to vote the Democratic ticket. H. Callender is "called a gay masher," a gay South End masher—"although I could never say why; still he's a masher,"—a gay South End masher—a fearful gay masher is H. Stephens & Barr (the song book compilers) will please notice particularly that we quoted all that we gleaned from their song book. The cold snap was voted unnecessary by all. The Black Diamonds are at Brazil to-day. Mrs. O. T. Sutfield, of Danville, was called to this city by the serious illness of her father, E. D. Anderson, Miss Ida Anderson is also at home from Missouri.

North Greencastle.

The woolen factory has a new scale room in process of erection. The road leading to the freight depot has been widened. Patrick Mallory went to Terre Haute, the first of the week, to "strike a job" at type-setting. Ratliff & Rogers' minstrels (a youthful organization) are billed for Brunerstown. Some female serenaders were out Saturday night, and their music was highly appreciated by all who heard them. Will Murphy has been visiting his friends here the past week. The boys say he is as jolly as ever. Hawley Steele is the new engineer at Goulding & Ireland's planing mill. Phillip Williams is out again. John Earp is having his sidewalk repaired. Theophilus Fox visited Indianapolis Wednesday. Straw hats are beginning to appear. At temperance meeting, Wednesday night, Preston Crunk was elected financial secretary, and Chas. McKee, Wm. King and Mr. Long were elected members of the executive committee. This was a most interesting meeting. Speeches were made by Dr. Pitchlynn, D. E. Preston, Wm. Daggy and others. The subject of Mr. Daggy's speech was "Hot, hotter, hottest." Some time back he had been hot in the temperance cause, he subsequently became hotter, and now he is at the boiling point. It was a red-hot speech. Dr. Pitchlynn donated some singing books to the choir. At the suggestion of President Smiley, the platform will be extended. The bid of THE STAR office to print the constitution and by-laws was accepted. We offer this suggestion to the Union: That each member on receiving a copy of the constitution be required to pay the sum of five cents, by which more than enough to pay the printing bill would be realized. Tommy Walker is now a "full-fledged" operator.

Little Walnut.

Wheat looks well in this section. E. N. Houck now occupies the Stewart farm. School commenced at district No. 2, the 1st Monday in April. Miss Julia Williams, teacher. L. F. Moore contemplates attending the Danville Normal. One of Riley's twins is expected to be a citizen of this neighborhood. Bluford Petit smiles—it's a boy. Messrs. Bament & Watson went to Greencastle, Tuesday, to purchase cattle. Why not have a fishing party on Little Walnut. Penley & Pierson are doing a thriving business in making staves. We are told that Charlie Cofer will walk five miles any time to vote for one of our township candidates. THE STAR is a welcome visitor.

Lena.

Sunday-school was organized at the Christian Church Sunday night. The Sunday-school was reorganized at the M. E. Church Sunday night. Several cases of measles in this vicinity. Died March 30, 1880, of measles, John Chadwick, aged about twenty-two. He was a young man of good habits, and respected by all. P. Joyner has bought James Brown's shoe shop. Dud. Vinzant is our new trustee. His office will be at T. N. Stokes' hardware store. We will now probably have the township library here, as it has never benefited the people here. Mr. and Mrs. Kinyon, of Iowa, are visiting friends here. Mrs. Collins, of Greencastle, is visiting friends here. Miss Prather's school closes, Wednesday, on account of measles in the neighborhood. She has given up her entertainment for the last night. We have a new art gallery owned by Masten Wright. He is a good hand—call and see. Dock Thomas has quit hewing staves and gone to buying popular logs. Harrison Fuquay has moved into the country. We anxiously await the Saturday STAR-light. FRIEND.

Russellville.

The weather is fine; farmers are breaking ground for corn. The prospect for a fruit crop here is good. Mr. W. M. Darter has his elevator finished, and is doing a lively business for the time of year. Mr. Jno. W. Blake, of Indianapolis, is coming down, Thursday, to see about starting a cheese factory here. We think he could not find a better place in the State of Indiana for that business. The talk now is to build a gravel road from Fincastle to the fair ground. Mr. Hargrove has rented the saw-mill, and will commence to run it soon. He will have a lively business if he furnishes the lumber for the houses that are contracted to be built here this summer. The carpenters are kept busy all the time. Mr. Burnside is going to start a hardware store as soon as he can get a building to go into. Mrs. and Miss Yoest have just received a fine stock of millinery goods. Misses Conner and Scott, of Crawfordville, have been visiting friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Evans are visiting friends here. It will be remembered that Mr. Evans is a graduate of Asbury, and is now doing a lively business in the boot and shoe trade in Crawfordville. The L. D. & S. is doing a lively business. An engine went past the depot last Thursday with 44 cars attached to it. After the 10th inst. they will run six passenger trains a day. They are going to carry passengers from Indianapolis to Chicago over the L. D. & S. and the C. D. & V. without change. Messrs. Williams are putting up a building to sell farm implements and hardware. The M. E. Sunday-school held its annual meeting for the election of officers last Monday night. The following are the officers for the coming year: Supt., G. S. Durham; Asst., McG. Wassan; Sec., Will Gardner; Treas., F. Frink; Organist, Miss Mollie Benefield and Miss Florence Durham. J. E. D.

Fern Station.

Farmers are busy sowing oats and plowing for corn. What is coming out considerably since the rains. Madison township went Democratic. William Thomas was elected trustee. B. F. Bruner died to Indianapolis on Monday. Mr. Helton's family are all sick with measles. The steam shovel will stay at Fern this summer. B. F. Bruner has boy sick with lung fever. W. M. Tyler has moved to Fern Station, having bought the Carpenter farm. Lime kilns are all doing a good business. The L. & St. L. R. Co. is putting up a temporary truss west of Fern. Mrs. Plummer's girl has the measles. Fern.

Junction School No. 1—Upper Department.

The following are the names of the pupils whose general average in the examination for the month ending March 12, 1880, is 90 and upwards: Maggie Walls, 98; Sallie Bodemer, 97; Ida M. Torr, 100; Chas. Torr, 97; Mattie Steeg, 93; Eddie Druley, 95; Lizzie Staley, 94; Mollie Ellis, 90; Ida Torr, 90; Uriah Marsh, 90, and Frank Walls, 90. B. S. Druley, Teacher.

Linedale.

The Vandalia Railroad Co. is building a barbed wire fence along the signal house grounds. John Henry Walls has returned from Arkansas. The Sunday School elected the following officers last Sunday: Wm. M. Torr, Supt.; Thomas Talbott, Asst. Supt.; Julia Steeg, Sec'y; Eddy Druley, Asst. Sec'y; John Brandon, Treas.; Jesse Lee, Librarian. The infant child of James Lyons died on last Sunday. There are no less than forty persons here who have the measles. Ed. Walls is having his house repainted. Neither Justice of the Peace nor Constable was elected for this place. TILDEN.

Putnam County Sunday School Union.

The second quarterly meeting of the Putnam County Sunday school Union for the year 1879-80, was held in the M. E. Church at Cloverdale, on Friday, April 2, 1880. The Union assembled at 9:30 a. m., and the president being absent on account of sickness in his family, and the vice president also being absent, on motion of Dr. Joyce, Prof. T. J. Bassett was called to the chair. A song was then sung and prayer offered by Rev. W. H. Grim.

First on the programme was an address by Rev. O. F. Lane, upon the subject of "Doctrine in the Sunday school." The subject was further discussed by Rev. Wm. Smith. Next came an address by Rev. W. H. Grim upon "The Lesson Standard." Short and pointed speeches upon the same subject were made by Edward Allen, J. D. Stevenson and others. Then came a song from Gospel Songs. The next subject was, "The Teacher's Work: 1st—Before the Lesson; 2d—During the Lesson; 3d—After the Lesson," by A. J. Neff. Discussed by J. B. Johnson and George Kimble. Dr. I. W. Joyce then discussed the subject of "Tact" in respect to Sunday-school work, which subject was continued by Mrs. Darnall and Rev. Smith. The subject, "How Should the Sabbath Day be Observed," had been assigned to Mrs. Dr. Mansfield and Mrs. W. D. Allen, both of whom being absent, the theme was discussed by L. B. Salmons, with a few remarks by Dr. I. W. Joyce. Following this was an address by Rev. Miles Wood, on the subject, "Can the Sunday-school in the Country be Continued During the Whole Year?" Mr. Sellers made some further remarks upon the same subject. After a song from Gospel Songs the Union adjourned to partake of a bountiful repast prepared by the good people of Cloverdale.

At 1 o'clock p. m. the convention was called to order by Prof. Bassett, president pro tem. After a song, and prayer by the president, the question drawer was opened, and 20 minutes were pleasantly and profitably spent in answering the questions, in which many took part. The first subject on the programme was, "The Value of Christian Character," by Rev. G. W. Switzer. "Experience as an Educational Power" was next discussed by W. W. Jones and A. J. Neff. Following this was an address by Rev. Casson on the subject, "How to Prepare a Sunday-school Lesson." The last was an excellent paper by Miss Edistina Williams on "Reading for Families." Then was sung a song, "We're Going Home To-morrow." Putnamville was chosen as the place for holding the next meeting, and the time fixed for the last Friday in July. Upon motion the next meeting was to be considered the annual meeting. A collection of $14 95 was then taken to defray the expenses of the Union. A few moments of time remaining, they were improved by red-hot two-minute speeches by Alpheus Birch, Geo. Kimble, Dr. Joyce, A. J. Neff, T. J. Bassett and others.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted: Resolved, (1) That the thanks of this Sunday-school Union are due and are hereby tendered to the trustees of this church for the use of their building in which to hold our session. (2) To the friends in Cloverdale for their kindness in so bountifully and kindly entertaining us. (3) To the newspapers for so freely and kindly noticing our meetings.

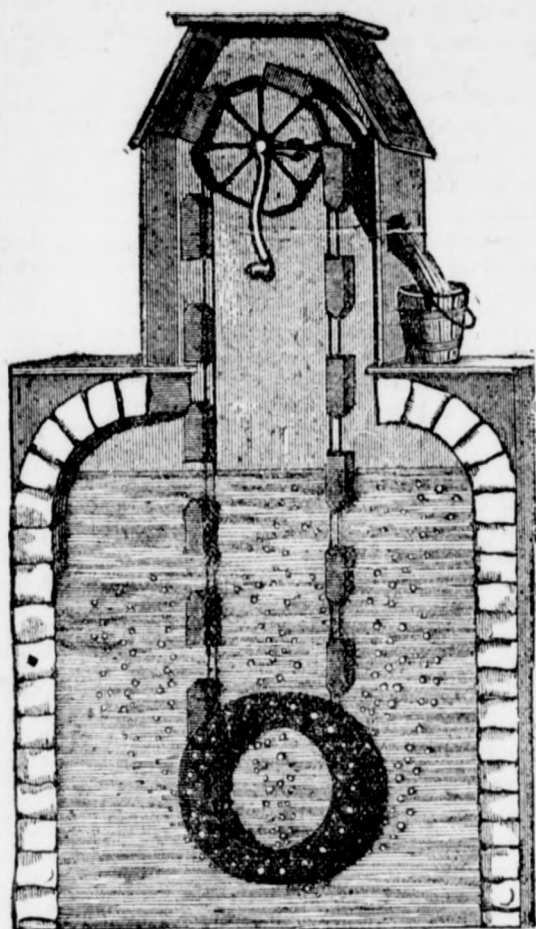

After their adoption a song was sung, the benediction pronounced by Rev. Grim, and the Union adjourned, having spent a very pleasant and profitable day. JOHN STANLEY, T. J. BASSETT, Secretary. Pres. pro tem.

The Improved Water Elevator and Purifier.

This Water Elevator is the only practical method of purifying foul or bad well or cistern water, making it good and pure, and keeping it so. The following testimonials from well-known citizens of Putnam County will show the estimation in which it is held by them:

Public attention is called to this Practical and Scientific Invention. It combines the Easiest and Cheapest method of drawing water from wells and cisterns, with the most natural and scientific principle of purification known. The small buckets or cups are filled with air, as they enter the water of the well or cistern, and being discharged near the bottom, the air ascends through the water, absorbing and carrying off whatever gaseous impurities may exist in the water, so that the water in the foulest cistern will become perfectly sweet and pure in a few days time by the use of this Elevator.

GREENCASTLE, IND., March 27, 1880.

Gents: The Improved Water Elevator and Purifier I bought of you about eighteen (18) months ago, purified the water in my cistern in about one week, and has kept it so it does not freeze up. It works to my entire satisfaction. Before I bought the Elevator and Purifier, the water in my cistern was so foul we could not use it. I can cheerfully recommend them to my friends and the public. Gents: The Improved Water Elevator and Purifier I bought of you about eight (8) months ago, is as good or better than you recommended it to be. My cistern is 10 by 12 feet, and was full of sour water and unfit for use. Your pump purified the water in about ten days. The water is now pure and healthy. Believing it to be the best cistern pump, I cheerfully recommend it to the public.

I have been using the Improved Water Elevator and Purifier sold by Richardson & Allen, about ten months. It works well. It furnishes clear and pure water, and is every way satisfactory.

JEROME ALLEN.

Cashier First National Bank, Greencastle, Ind.

We, the undersigned, who have bought and used the Improved Water Elevator and Purifier, sold by Richardson & Allen, believe it to be the best method of drawing water and keeping it pure, and would recommend their use to the public.

Messrs. Richardson & Allen: The Water Elevator and Purifier I bought of you about 18 months ago, has done all you claimed for it. It purified the water in my cistern, which was new, and the water very strong with lime—it made the water pure, nice and healthy. I have a good spring close to my house, but prefer the cistern water. It does not freeze up. I would not be without it. I take pleasure in recommending them.

ELIAS S. GARNER.

This water elevator will not rust or corrode, and is much more durable than any pump. Its construction is so simple, and it works so light, that a child ten years old can draw sufficient water for an ordinary family, from a well fifty feet deep. Damps cannot exist in a well in which this Elevator is used. Wiggles, water-lice, and other insects are exterminated by it.

As human happiness depends upon good health, and good health cannot be maintained without the use of pure water, it is to the interest of everyone to thoroughly investigate the subject, and adopt the most practical means to render all the water used by the family pure and wholesome.

We invite the most critical examination of this WATER ELEVATOR AND PURIFIER. It has stood the severest tests, and all who have used it are convinced of its merits, and recommend it to their neighbors.

We guarantee satisfaction to all patrons.

Mr. J. H. Shockley and wife, of Indianapolis, were visiting at his mother's, last week. They have since gone to Terre Haute. James Kretzer's wife has been quite sick. D. S. Farabee and wife have returned to her father's, their schools being out. He expects to attend normal school at Ladoga. The residence of Peter K. Duncan was struck by lightning, a few nights ago, but no serious damage. Better put up some lightning rods, Peter. There has been considerable talk about the largest locomotive. "Uncle Dick," the largest locomotive in the world, weighs sixty-five tons and is sixty feet long from headlight to tender. His boiler is twenty-one feet long. Cylinders 20x26 inches, and moves upon eight 42-inch driving wheels against which brake pressure of seventy-five tons can be applied. The grades of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road which he climbs are so heavy in some places that one end of Uncle Dick will often stand three feet higher than the other. And yet this monster, rejoicing in his strength, will rush up the Rocky Mountains with ten loaded cars. It appears that our township institute is a failure for want of teachers. They should be more attentive. A good number of the youngsters attended the exhibition at Wesley Chapel, last Saturday night, and thought it equal to Barnum's. Wm. Lisby and wife rejoice over the arrival of a bouncing big baby girl. Elder Great-house will lecture at Malta, April 10, at 7 o'clock p. m., and also preach Sunday night. What High Prices in Paper May Lead To.

Bristol (Penn.) Observer.

If printing paper continues to advance, newspapers will be forced to use common white satin with a plain gilt border instead. They will much dislike to resort to so cheap a substitute, but when rag print puts on a pair of telegraph climbers and the paper men plunge their thumbs into the arm-holes of their vests and ask you what you are going to do about it, something must be done, and it

A sexton in Gloucester, Mass., was summoned to prepare for burial an aged man with whom he was well acquainted. Arriving at the house he was requested to go upstairs to the bed-room, where the body was lying. Up he went, and was removing his coat, when he was dumfounded to see the supposed dead man rise in bed and in a hollow tone of voice articulate: "Hallo, John, how are you? Shake hands." The sexton was almost frozen with horror; but in a moment said, "I came up, Sam, to see if you didn't want me to make a new kind of gruel." The sick man assented; the gruel was made and carried up, and the affair passed off. The patient lived until the next day, and when the sexton was summoned there was no such resuscitation.

An Aquatic Experiment that Nearly cost a Student his Life.

Crawfordsville Star.

John W. Foreman, of Washington, Ky. and George W. Benton, of Albion, N. Y., both college chums and members of the Pene class spent Wednesday afternoon boating on Sperry's dam. The creek being booming high they had any amount of sport. After a while Benton became tired of rowing and got out of the boat near the erinoid beds about one hundred yards above the dam for the purpose of looking up a few specimens of curious rocks, etc. while Foreman amused himself by rowing down stream and experimenting how close he could pull his frail craft to the edge of the roaring and rushing dam without going over. He found out. The boat started over the dam broadside; Foreman jumped out and was hurled to the stormy abyss below. Benton saw him go over and hastened to the spot. After some five minutes he recognized the insensible body in the shallow water below the dam and rushed in and dragged him to the shore, and immediately began strenuous efforts to revive the apparently drowned man. He had succeeded in bringing him back to consciousness and a talking condition when Dr. Ensinger arrived and applied the battery and other restoratives. Both young men room in Mrs. Hadley's property in the rear of the college, where a Star representative called on them this morning. Foreman was propped up in bed and was resting easily. He is badly bruised about the face where he struck the rocks, but having slept well last night, he expects to be around in a few days. From the time he went over the dam to the time he was restored to consciousness he says he knew nothing and suffered nothing. The watch he carried was filled with water, and stopped at precisely 4:23, the time of the accident.

The Bravest man.

Sacramento Bee.

Last Sunday morning ten or thirteen men were in a Roseville saloon talking about brave men. The question arose as to who was the bravest man in town when J. Berry, a painter, stepped out and took that honor to himself. J. Blair, to test his bravery, asked him to step out in the street about forty feet and let him shoot at his hat, it being on his head at the time. No quicker said than done, Berry stepped out forty feet, and Blair, with an old Colt's revolver, fired, making a hole about one inch from his head. The crowd had no more to say about bravery. They changed the subject.

SINCERE THANKS.

I suffered for five years with Rheumatism. Having been persuaded by friends to try the St. Jacobs Oil, I must acknowledge that it is the best remedy I ever used; in fact, it cured me entirely. Accept my sincere thanks.

FRANK SCHWAB,

An adventuresome brought trouble to three respected residents of Jackson, Mich. Douglas Gibson, President of a bank, aged 68; Col. Eaton, a wealthy real estate agent, aged 60; and Almon Patterson, a retired merchant aged 54. She was a bewitching woman, and, beginning with a pretense of wishing to buy a house of Mr. Patterson, she soon became the fourth member of a whist party. They played cards every evening at Mr. Patterson's residence, while Mrs. Patterson was off on a southern trip, and sometimes became so engrossed in the game that daylight found them still at it. The upshot was a demand by the woman for $1200, or she would expose the diversion of the three gentlemen. Gibson and Eaton absented themselves from the city, but old Mr. Patterson defied the blackmailer, and bravely published the facts.

Common sense and the science of chemistry, when applied to butter making, reduce the time of churning one-half, increase the product 6 per cent., the quality of the product 20 per cent., and give a rich golden color to the butter the year round. All these improvements, together with many others, result from the use of Gilt-Edge Butter Maker. Sold by druggists, grocers and general store keepers.

PROFIT, $1200.
To sum up, six long years of bed ridden sickness, costing $200 per year, total $1200—all of this expense was taken by three bottles of Hop Bitters, taken by my wife. She has done her own house work for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit.—N. E. Farmer.

Fifty Dollars for one Bottle of Medicine.

Tonah, Wis., Nov. 29th, 1877.
My wife was for years afflicted with asthma, and was so far gone, that several physicians decided that her case must terminate in consumption. I was induced to try a bottle of Dr. Warner's White Wine of Tar Syrup. It gave almost immediate relief, and two bottles completely cured her. She now enjoys good health. I would not be without it if it cost fifty dollars a bottle.

Make Room for Dakota.

The next new State will probably be Dakota. Its present territorial boundaries include an area as large, nearly, as that of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, and more than twice as great as that of Minnesota. That portion of the territory west of the Missouri River is mainly set apart for Indian reservations, but all that part east of the Missouri River is rapidly filling up with agricultural settlers, pouring in daily from all points of the compass. The peculiar advantage of Dakota for settlers is that all the land is the property of the Government; no part of it has been granted to railroads, but all is open to purchase, or for entry under the homestead law. The land itself is extremely fertile, and the eastern half is capable of producing more breadstuffs and other articles of food and of merchandise than any one of the existing States, not excepting Minnesota. Another advantage is that the settler takes his land unencumbered by any mortgage or heavy taxation resulting from country debts contracted in aid of railroads—a burden which, unfortunately, weighs heavily upon other Western States. The James or Dakota River runs from north to south through the whole extent of the new State, and enters the Missouri River at the southern boundary. The six railroads cross the State and this river from east to west. The Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad and the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad will be completed to the Dakota River by January next. The Hastings & Dakota, the St. Paul & Sioux City, the Southern Minnesota, and the Northern Pacific are all rapidly pushing westward through Dakota. These six parallel railroads cross the state at convenient distances, giving a system of transportation and a facility of reaching market not surpassed by that of any other state in the Union.

The London School Board.

(Toledo Blade.)

The London Public Schools are at present under a Board whose members are elected every three years, and who, in consequence, cannot pursue a permanent policy which will produce the highest excellence. Nevertheless, in spite of the drawback of being subjected to the political machinery of the time the same as they are in the United States, that body has accomplished a vast amount of work. In the nine years since it came into being under the Education Act of 1870, the school accommodations for children requiring elementary instruction have been nearly doubled, and this year places will be provided for 90,000 additional pupils.

One great hindrance to the progress of the schools is the extreme penuriousness used toward teachers. The salaries paid are so low that the best class of instructors will not accept positions, but seek employment elsewhere, where they can receive more liberal pay. The natural consequence is a low grade of work, and this is so well understood that a strong movement has begun to make a change in the present arrangement. A peculiar part of the matter is that while the Board refuse to give liberal salaries they will spend large sums of money for things which do not come in the least within their province. It gave an entertainment to the Prince of Wales, when he came back from India, that cost $125,000. This may be loyal, but it certainly is not just. It is really robbing the children for something which does not the least good, even in the way of cultivating patriotism. Think of the Board of Education of New York City spending that amount of the school fund in a welcome to Gen. Grant or Pres. Hayes.

Some Eccentricities of Actors.

(New York Star.)

It makes a great difference by what route John McCullough enters a theatre, for, no matter how roundabout it may be, he always follows it afterward. Not to do so would break the charm of success. If he stumbles when he first enters a scene, if Forrest's sword, used in the "Gladstone," is usually bright, he is sure of good luck. A negro crossing his path on the way to a performance is good luck; but a cross-eyed woman is bad, and the humming or whistling of Macbeth music is a sure omen of ill-fortune. Raymond gets out of bed with his left foot first, has only one suit of clothes for "Colonel Sellers," and would on no account have another. He carries in his vest pocket a lucky five-dollar gold piece, and settles a vexed dramatic "point" by tossing up a coin.

Joe Jefferson has his old clothes patched for a similar reason. When he lost his "trick" rifle awhile ago, and had to get a new one, he made the first failure of his life, and he would break an engagement in any theatre if a dog were to walk across the stage at the first rehearsal. A cat, however, is an ever-welcome sign of renown. Florence also clings to his stage clothes, dreads the dog, and, if he has good luck, thinks "it is the cat." Sothorn knows he will fail if his valet by any accident hands him his wig before his coat is on. Booth never goes on the stage without pacing three times across the green-room mumbering over the last speech of the piece, and will not play Laro unless Desdemona's couch is set in a certain place.

A delude Nelson caricatured with her a lucky dingy silken rag, while she hangs over the balcony in Juliet; and insists on drinking her poison always from the same vial. Clara Morris carries an empty medicine vial through every scene. No play of Boucicault can succeed unless he tears off the coverage to the first act and makes way with the title-page at the last rehearsal.

Maggie Mitchell attributes her success in "Fanchon" to an old pair of shoes that she wears in that piece. Eliza Weatherly has for her special charm an embroidered rose, and Paolo-Marie, the little Parisienne of Grau's Opera bouffe, is a notable exception to the general dislike of dogs, having a pet poodle for luck.

An actor at the National Theatre, Philadelphia, went on the stage without a pistol in a scene requiring him to shoot the villain of the play. W. H. Though there was no ball in the weapon, Jones' hand was wounded, and he died of lockjaw.

A well-known German minister, Rev. A. Oltz, of Schleisingerville, Wis., writes:

I was a sufferer with Rheumatism for years. Friends recommended the use of St. Jacobs Oil; I tried it, and must confess that the result was astonishing. Having hardly used up the first bottle, I found relief, and the second one cured me. I therefore feel under obligations and shall recommend this effective remedy whenever I have a chance.

Old Mr. Baker advertised for a wife, specifying a "young woman of irreproachable character. He received a letter from Lizzie Smith, of DeWitt, Mo. She said that she was only seventeen, and was willing to become an old man's darling wife. As to her character, she assured Mr. Baker that anybody in DeWitt could give him the facts; and she told the truth, for the first person of whom he inquired informed him that she had served three terms in prison for stealing, and one for shooting a man. He decided not to marry her.

GRATEFUL WOMEN.
None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly grateful and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women. It is the only remedy peculiarly adapted to the many ills the sex is almost universally subject to. Chills and fever, indigestion or deranged liver, constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency, are all readily removed by these Bitters.—Conrant. 2150.

Bernard Macauley, who built in Louisville, one of the handsomest theatres in the country, now says: "The man who builds a magnificent theatre makes a mistake. The elegance and elaboration of the auditorium cheapen all scenic effect; and make it look tawdry and commonplace. If ever I build another theatre I will make my auditorium as plain as possible with good taste. Then any effort I may make at scenic splendor or stage effect will be heightened and enhanced by the comparison with the front of the house."

A somewhat dignified resident of Virginia City entered a barber shop, which was full of men, and the boss barber greeted him with, "Hallo, Charley." "I always like to come in here," said the dignified resident, blandly, "there's only one person in the city who calls me 'Charley' besides yourself, and that's my wife. If you'd only call me 'dear Charley,' now, it would make me feel even more at home. I don't happen to know your first name, my friend, but it's real kind in you to call me by mine." HIGHLY PERFUMED.

The strongest and purest Lye made. Will make 15 pounds of the best of Hard Soap in 20 minutes without boiling. The best water-softerner made. The best Lye for domestic use. The following are some of the advantages obtained by using Lewis' 85 Per Cent. Powdered Lye.

First. It is packed in iron cans with a stopper removable lid, easily taken off, and leaving the contents exposed, thereby saving the trouble, annoyance, and expense of the dangerous and unwholesome Lye sold in the cans, which must be broken open to get the Lye out.

Second. It being a fine powder, you can run it all over the house, being always ready for use.

Third. A teaspoonful or more can be used in scalding, washing, scrubbing, etc., and the lid returned to the can, and the balance of contents, which with other Lye must be discarded at once and used in a short time, or the strong odor will remain.

Fourth. Absolute purity. Free from all adulterations.

Fifth. One can of this Lye will save you from ten to twenty minutes with this Lye.

Sixth. No failure is possible in making Soap with this Lye, which the simple directions given are followed.

Seventh. One can of this Powdered Lye is equal to twenty pounds of Sal Soda or Washing Soda.

Eighth. One can of this Lye will save you more money than any other Concentrated Lye. It is pure, and contains no adulterations.

Ninth. This Lye is 85 per cent. stronger than any other Lye of Potash.

Tenth. One or two teaspoonfuls will soften a tub of the hardest water.

Eleventh. One teaspoonful will thoroughly cleanse Stoves, Drums, Bells, etc. Invaluable for killing Roaches, Mice, Rats, etc. The best article for washing Tubs.

Now lettuce have peas.

Now is a good time to plant shade and fruit trees.

The lively men smile as the mud dries up and the roads improve.

Country produce is rather more plenty than it has been.

County Auditor Edwards, and wife, and family have all been down with the measles.

Now is the time to advertise—the people are very apt to go to the stores that invite them to call.

Mrs. W. S. Hamrick, of Martinsville, has been visiting relatives in Greencastle this week.

If every person would be half as good as he expects his neighbor to be, what a heaven this world would seem.

The management of the L. N. A. & C. R. R. are condemning the old wooden bridges along the line. They will replace them with iron bridges.

There was as great excitement, Monday, over the township election, as is usual at a general election—the floaters, both black and white, reaped a rich harvest.

We do not believe it, but the Crawfordsville Star says: "The verdict the Durham heirs got in their Putnam county circuit court suit last week."

Miss Haines, of Jefferson township, had her finger amputated a few days ago. The finger had been drawn down to the palm of the hand, from the effects of a felon.

From Cloverdale, on April 1, came the report that James Danaugh, an old and highly respected citizen, living three miles north of town, died last night. He had been afflicted for some time.

The Brazil Mirror says: Dr. Fisk, of Greencastle, has been invited to deliver his lecture entitled "Mason & Dixon's Line" at this place for the interest of the Presbyterian church. We will add that, notwithstanding the suggestive title, it has no political significance.

Judging from present prospects, everybody who is not too lazy to work will be blessed with prosperity this year. Work will be plenty, crops will be good, and every branch of industry will thrive. But if you are too lazy to go out and work for a living, don't lounge around on goods boxes on the shady side of the street and croak of hard times, and wonder what this country is coming to.

The Democracy met at the Court House, Saturday night, to make arrangements for the organization of a Democratic club. McC. Hartley presided, and the only business transacted was the appointment of a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws, said committee consisting of Messrs. Neff, Lewman, Martin, Crews and Allison. Adjourned to meet to-night at the same place.

The Indianapolis Sentinel published the following, a few days ago: The postoffice at Roachdale will henceforth be known by that name, Sim Tyner, of corrupt memory, having been forced to abandon the christening in honor of his pet, "Langsdale." The indignant citizens demanded the change, and it was ordered to be made on "All Fool's Day." Your reporter utilizes this item simply to show the odium of the negro importation scheme, in which Langsdale figures as "de boss ob em'grashun."

I Do Declare.

It is said that the piece to learn the news is away from home. The Martinsville Gazette of last week, publishes the following letter written from Greencastle, and signed W—. Here is the epistle as clipped:

"The Republican primary election for city offices, came off Tuesday. The fight was rather bitter and prolonged until late. The average 'exoduster' played the most conspicuous part. 'Sambo,' 'Pompie,' 'Caesar,' 'Calcutta,' &c., manifested more interest in the election than the intelligent and wealthy citizens. Speaking about papers that have 'post office attachments,' the Greencastle Banner is one of that kind. It has discovered that Indiana needs 20,000 colored paupers; it has also discovered that there is a great demand (?) for labor in this State, and that the laborer can get from $25 to $30 per month, it has aided to throw hundreds of good and intelligent white men out of employment and fill their places with colored voters; but on the Presidential question it is as 'cool as a cucumber.' But we rather think it favors Grant-Cass, the sword, the royal purple, &c. Col. C. C. Matson is a candidate for representative for Congress from this district. We can say from personal knowledge, that Col. C. C. Matson is a perfect gentleman, and, if elected, will do his duty well. In the army he was a good officer and a gallant soldier. He can carry every Democratic and Independent vote in this county. Also many liberal minded Republicans will support him. We learn that Judge Carr and Judge Franklin are candidates for the same office. They are all good men, and we think either one could be elected if nominated. Dr. Rogers, who has been traveling in the South for the three or four months, lectured before the students of Asbury University last Sunday. His subject was "Southern Impressions." Dr. Rogers is a Republican, but is a liberal and reasonable man in every thing. He says that all the reports of "bull-dozing the negroes" in the South are false. He says the South has been in a terrible condition, but the negro and the "carpet-baggers are the sole cause of all the trouble. He thinks the government did a mighty wrong in giving the negro unlimited right of suffrage—"ignorance and suffrage go hand in hand." Many Republicans crowded the hall with great expectations of hearing the South cursed and condemned, and the Democratic party ridiculed, but their idol was broken and they disappointed. They heard the truth, but they could not believe it. Asbury University is in a very prosperous condition. There is quite a large attendance this year. Morgan county furnishes five students to the University. The latest sensation at college, was caused by the organization of a ladies' military company. They appear real brave and quite brassy in their snug uniforms. If women shall take up arms against their husbands, Asbury can furnish a battalion on a moment's warning. "The women folks are going to cause trouble yet." Let the men be on their guard. It is leap year; boys, look out.

Greenback County Convention.

The National Greenback Labor Party of Putnam County assembled in mass convention at the Court House in Greencastle, Saturday, April 3, at 11 o'clock a. m.

The convention was called to order by R. S. Ragan, Chairman of the Central Committee, and, on motion, Wm. Munson was made temporary secretary.

On motion the chair appointed the following committees: On permanent organization, resolutions, delegates to the State and Congressional conventions, reorganization of central committee, nomination of county ticket.

The convention then adjourned till 1:30 p. m.

On reassembling of the convention H. C. Black, of Monroe township, was made permanent chairman, and Wm. J. Kercheval, of Warren township, permanent secretary.

The committee on resolutions reported the following, which were adopted:

The National Greenback Labor Party, in convention assembled, declare—

1st—There should be no third-term President or other imperialistic departure from the Government of the fathers.

2d—That the ballot ought to be pure and free to all.

3d—There ought to be no more banks of issue, either State or National.

4th—There never ought to be any more interest-bearing Government bonds issued.

5th—The right to make and issue money is an inherent and inalienable sovereign prerogative of the National Government, and cannot be delegated to banking corporations or associations without surrendering an essential attribute of the National sovereignty.

6th—That all money should be issued by the National Government and be of uniform full legal tender quality, whether it be of gold, silver, paper or other material, and should be receivable at its face value, without limit, in payment of all debts, public and private; and the Government should issue such money in such amounts as may be necessary to quicken and stimulate every branch of productive industry and business, and successfully carry on the same throughout the whole country.

7th—That all creditors of the National Government should be treated as equals before the law and be paid in money of equal full legal tender quality in all cases whatsoever.

8th—That full legal tender greenback money should be substituted at the earliest practicable day for National Bank notes.

9th—That the coinage of the standard silver dollar as full legal tender money ought to be free and unlimited.

10th—That every kind of property ought to bear its just proportion of the burden of taxation.

11th—That the Constitution of the United States ought to be so amended as to prohibit the importation, domestic manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors of every kind and description.

12th—That justice requires that all of the political parties should be fairly represented on boards of election and all grand and petit juries.

13th—The public debt ought to be paid in lawful money of the United States as the same falls due.

14th—That we look with feelings of pride and satisfaction to the patriotic course of that Christian gentleman and statesman, Hon. G. De La Matyr, our present representative in Congress from this Congressional District, and earnestly desire his re-election from his new district.

Delegates were selected to attend the State, Congressional and other conventions, as follows: R. M. Hazlett, A. T. Keightley, H. C. Black, Wm. J. Kercheval, George Gorton, Wm. M. McCray and J. A. Guilliams.

The following resolution was then passed:

Resolved, That all National Greenback citizens of Putnam County identified with the party be requested to attend the several conventions together with the delegates, and to then and there co-operate in selecting the best candidates.

The following were selected as members of the Central Committee, and said committee authorized to fill all vacancies:

A. T. Keightley, Greencastle township; Thomas Welch, Franklin; J. A. Guilliams, Russell; George Cooper, Clinton; Wm. M. McCray, Monroe; Wheeler Wright, Marion; D. P. Farrow, Madison; Austin Bond, Washington; Wm. J. Kercheval, Warren; Hiram Jenkins, Cloverdale.

The committee on nomination of county ticket reported the names of the following gentlemen, and on motion they were declared the nominees of this convention:

For Representative, Greenbury Wright, of Marion township; for Treasurer, Solomon James, Franklin; for Sheriff, George Gorton, of Washington; Commissioner, 1st District, H. C. Black, of Monroe.

The convention then adjourned. After the convention adjourned, the Central Committee met and organized by electing A. T. Keightley Chairman and Wm. Kercheval Secretary.

6. They are the only Overalls which received a medal and certificate of award at the Centennial Exhibition.

7. They are made so strong that Messrs. Snyder, Harris, Bassett & Co., of Phila. report a case where a carpenter working on a roof slipped, fell and was caught by a spike in his overall, and remained suspended in the air until he was rescued, the Overalls by their great strength, thus saving his life.

Nip and Tuck

Of this splendid dramatic production, the Oil City Derrick says: It is no exaggeration to say the play was the most amusing and entertaining presented here this season. Harry Webber is a whole circus of himself alone, and Fitzpatrick is a menagerie, with thirty-six elephants. Little Camilla Gardner, aged six years, performed her part very creditably. Those who did not attend missed a rare treat, and should never miss an opportunity when offered in the future to witness the eccentricities of "Nip and Tuck."

The Boss Hen Story.

Glen Cove Gazette.

Glen Cove goes to the front with the "boss hen," not the mere ordinary egg-laying hen, but a singing hen—a hen that sings "Hold the Fort" with all the unctious of a Widow Van Cott at camp meeting. This biped is the pet of a young lady of this village. She has taught the hen to accompany her as she sings the hymn, and the pullet does it with a vim, a gravity and propriety really creditable to poultry nature. She has only to start the melody and the pullet joins in and sings along with her to the end, following the scale and minding the rests in a way that would delight the most exacting choir master, and as a matter of genius Glen Cove's singing hen is as the luster of Aldebaraff to the glitter of a pin-head in the pinafores of beauty dancing at charity balls.

Harry Weber in Nip and Tuck.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Nov. 25 says: "On Monday evening Mr. Harry Weber made his initial bow in his comedy-drama of Nip and Tuck, to one of the largest Monday night houses, and was received by unbounded enthusiasm. The play possesses all the qualifications of a great dramatic success, and the performance was without blemish. Mr. Weber is a comedian of rare abilities and a consummate knowledge of effect. His voice was pleasantly graded to each character, and the various make-ups impenetrable in their character outlining. The company, throughout, is a good one, and we can safely predict an unequalled success wherever they may cast their lines."

As this celebrated company will perform at Opera House on next Saturday night, we anticipate a big house; seats on sale at Langdon's.
